Reno for Rio Bonito.
Am willing to trade Rio Bonito lands in Butte county, California, for two or three town lots, or for a house and lot in Reno. It is believed that Rio Bonito property will increase in value 100 per cent within two years. There are no richer lands in the world than the Feather river bottom lands, good for oranges, lemons, peaches, apricots and other fruits without irrigation. This is an excellent opportunity for speculation, or to get a home in one of the best spots in California. Will be in Reno for a few days, and will be pleased to meet all those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity.
C. S. YOUNG.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thou and all the wind tubes and vessels leading to them. THE ARTFUL CANVASSER.

A Hint for Much-Tried Men Who Travel with Books.

I went straight to the minister's house, on reaching Sleepyville (said a canvasser for a religious weekly). Never think of going anywhere else first, my boy, for you are canvassing for a religious paper.

The minister was a nice fellow, and I booked him early in the day. He pressed me to stay to supper. It was warm, the minister was entertaining, his quarters comfortable, so I stayed.

After supper the minister had to go to prayer meeting. He asked me to go along. It was not my cue to refuse. I went.

After there had been some praying done and a hymn had been sung, the minister and looking at me said:

"We will now ask Brother —," meaning me, to lead in prayer.

I thought mighty quick for about ten seconds; it was a question of policy I was debating in that interval. Then I said:

"For a reason which I shall be very glad to explain after the meeting is over, I must beg to be excused from leading the prayers."

The pastor accepted my declination gracefully and called upon somebody else.

After the meeting was over I went up to the minister and said:

"The reason I did not accept your kind invitation to lead in prayer was that I was afraid my motives might be misunderstood. You see, my business is to obtain subscriptions for a certain religious paper. If I had led in prayer some members of your congregation would have been sure to have suspected me of trying to advertise my papers in church. Neither I nor my employers would tolerate such a suspicion for a moment."

The minister was profuse in his praise of my straightforward methods. I think he must have said something about the matter to his congregation, for with hardly an exception they subscribed for the paper.

Verily, virtue is its own reward.—Platteburgh Dispatch.

THE MARKET IN HAVANA.

A Vast Variety of Food Found in It.

The visitor is astounded at the vast varieties of food that can be found in the market at Havana. There is nothing to compare with it in a single market of any American or European city.

Briefly, every article displayed in the most sumptuous American markets, including every known brand of American canned goods, is here, and besides this, every fruit, vegetable, herb and flower produced in this land of indescribable luxuriance, and that, too, not in brief seasons, but every hour in every day in the year.

Think of twenty-six varieties of sweet potatoes constantly exposed for sale. There are between forty and fifty varieties of herbs and vegetables used in salading alone.

Nor can one form any conception, until it is seen, of the Cuban supply of food-birds. I was shown and counted myself eighty-three different kinds of birds, comprising thirty-seven distinct species; while the magnificence and lusciousness of vegetables and fruits are positively beyond comprehension by us who exist in rigorous climates.

And here the concrete realism of daily life blends pleasantly with one's most vivid imaginings, until through the warp and woof of conscious comprehension are wrought the bitter and the sweet, the cloud and the sunshine, of Cuban memories in fadeless dyes.

A QUEER BAROMETER.

And One Not Difficult To Procure.

It is not generally known that the rendered fat of a woodchuck is a good a barometer as any we have to-day.

While in the country a short time ago the writer had occasion to travel through the lower part of Berks. At the house of a friend he pressed me to take an umbrella with me. There were no signs of a storm. I asked why he persisted in so dogged a manner for me to accept the article.

"Why," said he, "look at my barometer."

There upon the shelf stood a bottle sealed with beeswax. It was all cloudy.

The old gentleman said that he had used this one for most twenty years, and if a storm was brewing the barometer got cloudy twelve hours before the rain or snow began to fall. In clear weather the oil was always clear.—Reading Herald.

Well-Pointed Wit.

The late Dr. John Brown, an eminent Scottish author, tells a story of a lady suffering from what seemed likely to prove a fatal quinsy.

Her husband, who was deeply attached to her, was bending over her in the utmost concern. She could swallow nothing. By some strange and scarcely voluntary whim of association he expressed his wonder whether she could swallow a compliment.

The remark so tickled her that she burst into a laugh; the laugh burst the quinsy, and she owed her recovery to what must otherwise have been pronounced the most unseasonable of jokes.

An Unconventional Wedding.

"I was 'at the death' at a rather novel wedding last night," said Mr. Jack Bradford.

"It was on a train near Spartanburg. About 11 o'clock, when just in the midst of a quiet snooze, I was startled by a gruff voice saying:

"Do you take this woman to be your lawful wedded wife?"

"For me, I thought it was meant for me, and I made a break for the nearest window; but as soon as I saw my time had come, I breathed easier and did the spectator act."

"There were the victims and the preacher, and the father of the happy bride with an ugly-looking gun pointed in the direction of the happy bridegroom. The groom never winced, but went through the ceremony like a little man."

"Then I went back to sleep."—Atlanta Constitution.

The Charm of Music.

Fair visitor (to convict)—"I suppose, that the singing of the birds relieves the monotony of your dreary life?"

Convict (profoundly nonplussed)—"The singing of birds, miss?"

Fair visitor—"Yes, sir, the little fell birds, you know. They must be such a boon."—New York Sun.

MISCELLANEOUS.

EVERY NIGHT I SCRATCHED

Until the skin was raw, body covered with scales like spots of morte. Cured by the Cuticura Remedy.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary change you'll undergo if remedies performed on me. About the first of April last I noticed some red pimples like common cold sores, but nothing to be concerned about it until a week later on, when it began to look like spots of mortal disease. I vainly did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hope of recovery, I happened to be in the office of the Cuticura Remedy, and inquired about your Cuticura Remedies, and, I purchased them from Mr. Merrill, who gave me an immediate relief. The pimples gradually dropped off and disappeared, and I have been fully cured. My doctor had the disease for fifteen months and I had it for four months. Now my skin is entirely cured. My doctor was a skin specialist, and recommended the Cuticura Remedy to me, and I have been entirely satisfied with it. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's.

GEO. COTHEY, Merrill, Wis.

WEDNESDAY ..... JUN 20, 1888

By far the most important Convention held in this country for years, is now in session at Chicago, and sixty millions of people are anxiously waiting to learn the names of the standard-bearers who are to lead the Republican party to victory in November next. With exasperating dilatoriness the Convention is getting ready for business, but according to the latest dispatches, nothing beyond preliminary organization work has yet been accomplished. As before stated, the present Convention is one of the most important held in this country for years. The eye of the whole Nation is upon it, and the business world, whose interests are now in jeopardy, is on the tippy top of expectancy. The Democratic party, after twenty years of minority life, by accident is now in power. One-half of the Nation believes that the Republican party ought to be restored to power. The business of the Chicago Convention is, therefore, to nominate a candidate for the Presidency, who is in every way qualified for and worthy of that high and responsible office, and place him upon a platform wise and strong. This having been done, the people will restore the Republican party to power in November next.

The leading candidates now in the field are Depew, Gresham, Alger, Harrison, Allison and Sherman. Either of the five first-named will be acceptable to the people of Nevada; the last named will irretrievably ruin the prospects of victory in this State. It is to be hoped that a wise and benevolent Providence will so direct affairs that the Republicans of Nevada will not be called upon to support the most prominent enemy her leading industry has in the country.

At this writing it is impossible to forecast the political future by even an hour, but owing to the tactics now being indulged in by the political managers it is evident that they are fighting for time. The fight is evidently a great one, and may lead to a "dark horse" being selected. However, the next twenty-four hours will set the matter at rest, and until then the country will be in suspense.

The evening of July 2d, only one week from next Monday, will witness the most glorious reunion of modern times—that of the survivors of the Army of the Potomac and of the Army of Northern Virginia, in commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg. That battle stands out as one of the most memorable of our civil war. Its glory and its tragedy have already been set forth in one of the most eloquent and touching tributes that in modern times have emanated from the lips of man. No memories more thrilling, more soulful or more pathetic have ever blended than those which will blend there when fraternizing veterans from north and south revisit the old battlefield and recall the story whose warp and woof were drenched with blood and dried with fire.

University of California.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—Next Saturday will be "Class Day" at the University of California, Berkeley, and members of the senior graduating class have arranged an interesting programme for the day. Commencement exercises will be held on Wednesday, the 27th instant. At this time the Lick Observatory will be open to the inspection of the departments of the University. The Regents will meet on Thursday next to award diplomas and to pass upon business necessary at the close of the University year.

The Will of Ex-Judge Glascock.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—The will of ex-Judge William H. Glascock, deceased, was filed for probate in Oakland yesterday afternoon. The value of the estate is $200,000, of which $100,000 is personal property. One-fourth is left to grandchildren. The remaining three-fourths is given to John R. Glascock and Mrs. Mary A. Blow in equal portions. John R. Glascock is made executors.

A Lawyer Sentenced.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The lawyer who persuaded Teller Scott to steal $150,000 of the Manhattan Bank funds, was sentenced this morning to nine years and eight months in the State Prison.

A Commission Firm / Falls.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—Barley & Robertson, commission merchants at 408 California street, made an agreement Monday afternoon for the benefit of their creditors, to F. A. Bell, assignee.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

E. Bainbridge Mundy, Esq., County Attorney, Clay County, Texas, says: "Have need Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with malarial fever and jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine, and found that Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. L. Williamson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: "I positively believe he would have died had it not been for Electric Bitters."

THE VALLEY OF THE SUSAN.

Beyond all cavil the valley of the Susan is the prettiest of all the valleys to be seen in the north, and its brightest gem is the thriving town of Susanville, which

LASSEN COUNTY.

HONEY LAKE AND THE VALLEY OF THE SUSAN.

A Section of Country Which is Rapidly Coming to the Front—Its Great and Varied Resources. Special Correspondence—GAZETTE.

SUSANVILLE, June 14, 1888.

EDITOR GAZETTE.—One of the most promising counties in the State of California is undoubtedly that which is designated on the maps as Lassen. Situated in the northwestern part of the Golden State and separated from the broad grain fields and prolific orchards of the great Sacramento Basin by the snow-clad peaks and forest-covered slopes of the Sierra, it has been hidden from the observant and discerning eye of the home-seeker and capitalist until a very recent date.

Up to the year 1887 but few outside of those residing within its boundaries knew of its great and varied resources. Its inhabitants, the fields of waving grain, the substantial residences embowered in trees, and the numerous orchards of choice fruit present a picture which time may dim but not efface from the memory of the observer. The town itself is a gem, and a worthy guardian of the valley which lies at its feet.

THE WATER QUESTION.

Here, as elsewhere, the water question is the great theme for discussion. In order to bring the rich land of the valley to a higher state of productiveness water is needed, and is needed badly. The absence of a sufficient quantity of water for irrigation is sadly felt by many of the ranchers, and although there are many projects on foot to bring an ample supply from the many lakes which nestle in the mountains in close proximity to the valley, it will probably be years before the plans, for various reasons, are put into execution. A very important and unusual suit will, unless a compromise is effected, soon be brought by the farmers of the Tuolumne Confederacy against the farmers of the Susan Valley, and it will be stubbornly fought by the latter, the litigation which will result will, in all probability, occupy the attention of the court for years to come. The suit, if pushed, will be brought to restrain the farmers of the valley of the Susan from using the waters of the river, a privilege which they have enjoyed for over thirty years, a right which has never before been questioned. Owing to the many irrigation ditches now in use but little of the precious fluid reaches the farmer of the Tuolumne Confederacy, the result being that a great falling off in the hay crop is noticeable. As it is a matter which is to be decided by the courts, neither the merits nor the demerits of the case, which are many, will be discussed here.

THE RAILROAD QUESTION.

In common with all the residents of the north, the farmers of Honey Lake valley rejoiced over the advent of the railroad, but now their pens of joy are changed to walls of woe. They can truly be said to be upon "the rugged edge." Not knowing which direction the railroad will take, one day they are buoyed up with rumors that the west side of the lake will be pierced by the iron rails, only to be cast next day into the slough of despond by a report that the road will surely pass along the east side, and from thence into the undeveloped and desolate country to the north.

A sad state of affairs.

An afflicted pair in Lamont, Elko county, are the recipients of universal neighborhood sympathy. They were all ready to be married when the County Clerk skipped out. Ever since it has been impossible to procure a marriage license, and the young couple have been on the sharp curves of the rugged edge. There are regular mass meetings of the old women of Lamont, and the clatter of these resembles that of a flock of geese on a California grain field.

"There is no cure but marriage."

How many a pompous old fraud, with an M. D. attached to his name, has offered this time-honored prescription to a pale, haggard girl, suffering from the ill effects of venereal disease? How many a wracked hell on earth has thus been started! for no marriage can be blessed either to husband or wife, which is taken as a pill. Out upon such quackery! There is a cure for suffering women—a cure which will make marriage the greatest of earthly blessings, and home the sweetest. Dr. Edens. Its name is Dr. Plow's Female Prescription. Just try it, and see the black clouds of life roll away before the glories of a return of returning health and vigor. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturer that it will give satisfaction in every case or money refunded. See wrapper around bottle.

Dr. Price's Pellets, the original and only genuine Little Liver Pills, Twenty-five cents a vial; one a dose. After a fire was extinguished at Tuscarora a week ago the remains of a hen, burned to a crisp, were found, beneath which were several living chickens still alive.—Austin Reville.

LUCKY MILES FINLEN.

The Slayers of David Pyne to be released on bail.

Judge Leonard of the Supreme Court has reversed the decision of the District Court of Storey county which refused to admit Miles Finlen, the murderer of David Pyne, to bail, and has issued an order admitting the defendant to bail in the sum of $15,000.

The Virginia Chronicle, in its account of the proceedings, says: "At the close of the argument Justices Hawley and Belknap were decidedly of the opinion that the writ should be dismissed. Chief Justice Leonard, however, announced that as the writ was being read, he would take the matter in hand, and that he would rule on the points of the conflict.

Justice Leonard, after hearing the evidence relating to the manner in which the fatal dispute arose and the succeeding fracas, issued an order as above stated, and it is presumed that this Finlen has given bonds in the sum named.

Utilizing the Carrier Pigeon.

In Wyoming the carrier pigeons are rapidly being introduced. They are used in sending messages from Laramie to the big ranches. Homing pigeons will doubtless soon be put to the same use every where in the big cattle ranges of Idaho and Montana, and as the stockmen of Nevada are enterprising they will doubtless also join in the procession.
